Genius Virtual Poster Maker The Programmer's Guide To Computer Programming.Fox News viewers were down by 5 million since Obama took office, and the president's approval rating increased by 3 points in just four months. The story was reported by Variety this week, which listed Fox News at No. 3 in ratings among cable news networks. The article quoted liberal media watcher Frank Sesno, who said that the network has spent "a lot of money" with the hope of restoring its lost audience. "The question is whether they have the credibility and strength to do that," said Sesno. "Fox News is viewed by millions of Americans as no longer merely conservative; it's now become a partisan propaganda machine." Obviously, that's highly subjective, and I'm not sure how "partisan" Fox News is in the way that CNN or MSNBC or NPR or The New York Times is. But their ratings are falling. The basic claims made in the article are beyond misleading. The two numbers cited — six and five million — are actually percentages, and the variance between them is enormous. In an average month during the
