A Pen Tool can be used to draw, edit, or sketch lines on an image. The Pen Tool is also commonly used to create vector shapes. In this tutorial, we will show you how to use Photoshop's Brush Tool to create a brush icon for your website. Here's what you'll need: 1. Open up a New document 2. Create a rounded rectangle (5px × 5px), set the color to white 3. Create a new group in the layer bar and name it "Brush Tool" 4. Open up a Brush Tool (B) and start painting with the size set to 50px (around 25-30 strokes) To create the brush icon, we'll start drawing a brush shape in two different places, then save the brush shape in the same layer, so that we can use it later in this tutorial. We'll add the brush icon to our website in three different places so that we can properly position it on the page. Let's get started. 1. Select the Brush Tool (B) and then, to make sure we create the brush shape in the same spot each time, set the cursor to the center of the canvas (Space bar) 2. Drag out a brush shape by pressing the "D" key or clicking the white area and then release the mouse button 3. Duplicate the shape by pressing the "J" key 4. Drag out some more shapes, and then you can delete any of them by holding down the Shift key 5. A window will pop up with the brush shape in the Brushes folder. Open this folder and save the brush in the location you need. To start creating a brush icon, all we need to do now is to save the brush in the proper folder and name it. Let's name our brush "Icon Brush" and then save the brush in the "Brushes" folder, which is where it's kept automatically. A new name will appear in the Brushes folder, and the color swatches show that we've successfully created our own brush. Now, we'll add this new brush to our website. 1. Create a new layer and name it "Icon" 2. Locate the "Background" layer and double click to select it 3. Drag the brush icon from the Q: Error 310 in computer hard drive I had a power backup and was using my computer. After few days I checked my hard drive and it shows error 310. I am not able to open my PC and I am helpless now, what should I do? A: My first instinct would be that it would be a hard drive error. With that said, be sure you have a back up of your data. Next step would be to contact the manufacturer of your motherboard and ask if they can give you an alternate hard drive. The last thing you want to do is have a hard drive fail while your computer is still on the repair floor. A: You have three options: 1) Restore from Back-Up 2) Repair Broken Hard Drive 3) Replace Hard Drive For more information about these options, check this article on the topic: Error Code 310: Hard Drive Failure and Restore – Hard Drive Failure and Restore A: I had this problem once. I think it has something to do with a hardware issue or a problem with BIOS. For instance, my problem was Windows 10 freezing every time I started it, but sometimes I could get it to work after restarting. This has more to do with the fact that Windows was corrupted than the OS itself since I could still boot into it. Your case sounds similar. There's not much you can do without the information you have: the motherboard model, the hard drive serial number (probably printed on a sticker) and some sort of error code.
